

Privacy Notice

This Privacy Notice is intended for the shareholders of the funds managed by Alaska Investimentos Ltda. (“Alaska”), users of Alaska’s website (“Platform”). For the purposes of this Privacy Notice, users of the Platform are defined as “Clients”. Through this Privacy Notice, Clients are informed:

- a) About which personal data is processed by Alaska;
- b) For which purposes and for how long personal data is processed by Alaska;
- c) With whom personal data may be shared;
- d) What the Clients’ rights are regarding the processing of their personal data; and
- e) About the channel to be used by Clients to exercise their rights as personal-data subjects. In general, Alaska is the recipient of the personal data and makes the personal-data processing decisions under the terms of the legislation in force and of this Privacy Notice.

1. Collection and storage of data through browsing and Use of Cookies

Alaska’s website may use “Cookies”. Cookies are small text files that are stored on your hard drive via your browser. Certain information is stored (for example: your preferred language or website settings) that the browser can send back to us on your next visit to our website (depending on the cookie’s duration). You may use our website without any Cookie (including Cookies for technical purposes). In your browser, you may restrict or disable the use of Cookies at any time. This may, however, have a certain negative impact on the functionality and ease of use of our website. Alaska may have access to data provided by your browsing and your device, depending on the Websites and Applications, the type of your device, the authorizations granted by you to the Websites and Applications (including the specific features related to them) through the settings of your device or operating system, and the features used on or related to each Website, such as:

- IP address;
- Date and time of use of the Websites;
- Geolocation and other real-time location information of the User;
- Information about your device, such as operating system; browser and its versions; screen resolution; installed Flash player; Advertising ID; IMEI; device screen size; languages, permissions and keyboard settings; Wi-Fi and mobile networks used; mobile phone number; SIM card information and statistical information related to the use of the device;
- Information about browsing habits, such as pages accessed on the Websites and Applications, number of clicks, typing speed, gestures used in interaction, locking and unlocking of the device, device identification, location data (based on your IP), cookie information, information shared or obtained through firewall, Cloudflare and/or Google Analytics, among other information;

2. Purpose and duration of processing

Alaska carries out the processing of Clients' data in a transparent manner and for lawful and specific purposes, as set out below:

- To enable your browsing on the Platform, including aggregated or non-aggregated analyses of Client behavior, the identification of problems and implementation of improvements to the Platform, the personalization of features and security monitoring;
- To respond to requests and contacts, receive complaints, investigate reports or respond to requisitions from Clients and other parties involved in the operation;
- To establish contact between Alaska and the Clients, including to ensure the fulfillment of obligations;
- To manage the relationship with Clients, including through communication by the available means;
- To carry out satisfaction or other surveys;
- For the eventual legal exercise of Alaska's rights, including in contracts and judicial, administrative or arbitral proceedings, as well as for compliance with legal obligations. ALASKA undertakes to retain personal data for as long as necessary to fulfill the purposes indicated above and to dispose of personal data whenever possible and as may reasonably be required, in compliance with the provisions of the national data-protection legislation. Should the Client have questions about Alaska's personal-data retention and disposal practices, they may contact the communication channel for personal-data subjects, at the e-mail address:

3. Sharing of personal data

ALASKA may share your personal data with third parties, only to the extent strictly necessary to achieve the purposes listed in this Privacy Notice and in accordance with one or more of the cases listed below:

- Where the third party in question is one of Alaska's parent companies, subsidiaries or affiliates;
- Where the third party in question is a service provider or business partner processing personal data on behalf of and in the interest of Alaska, as its personal-data processor or as a controller, in strict compliance with the applicable legislation;
- Where the third party in question is an official public body or entity, regulatory, police or governmental authority, legitimately requesting information in the context of inspections, audits, regular legal proceedings or procedures that constitute binding legal obligations on Alaska, or where reasonably necessary to protect the rights of Alaska, of Clients and/or of third parties;
- When Alaska has obtained the free, unequivocal and express consent of the Client for the sharing of data.

4. Security and place of processing

ALASKA is responsible for adopting and maintaining reasonable technical and administrative security measures to prevent irregular or unlawful processing of Clients' personal data, including unauthorized cases of access, destruction, loss, alteration or disclosure of the data. All Alaska employees are subject to confidentiality obligations. In addition, Alaska updates and tests its security systems in accordance with good practices in order to protect its personal data. The processing of clients' personal data may be carried out outside the national territory. Although these countries may have data-protection levels different from those of Brazil, Alaska will adopt safeguards, including contractual ones, to preserve clients' rights and the confidentiality, integrity and security of the information. Alaska engages data-protection support software that allows the Compliance Officer and the Risk & IT Officer to track all file movements on Alaska's server.

5. Rights of the Personal-Data Subject

The following rights of the personal-data subject may be exercised at any time, in accordance with the applicable legislation, by Clients upon request:

- Confirmation of the existence of processing of the personal data;
- Access to the personal data;
- Correction of incomplete, inaccurate or outdated personal data;
- Anonymization, blocking or deletion of unnecessary or excessive data, or data processed in non-compliance with the provisions of the

LGPD (Brazilian General Data Protection Law);

- Portability of the personal data to another provider of a service or product, subject to the regulation of the national authority;
- Erasure or anonymization of the personal data processed on the basis of your consent, except where the law authorizes the retention of such data on another basis;
- Information about the public and private entities with which Alaska has shared your personal data;
- Information about the possibility of not consenting to the processing of your personal data and about the consequences of such action; and
- Revocation of your consent, where the processing has been carried out on the basis of the subject's consent.

6. Exercise of data-subject rights

ALASKA will facilitate the exercise of rights by data subjects, whenever possible and in accordance with the law. ALASKA has a specific communication channel to manage communications with data subjects and enable the exercise of rights. Clients may make any complaint, request or information inquiry related to the processing of their personal data, including to exercise the data-subject rights indicated in this Privacy Notice and guaranteed by legislation, through the company's Data Protection Officer (DPO). When the Client contacts Alaska to exercise their data-subject rights, Alaska may collect information for the purpose of confirming the identity of the data subject, to the extent of their interest and security.

7. Updates to the privacy notice

This Privacy Notice may be updated periodically. All changes shall be considered to apply and take effect immediately, except in the event of a communication to the contrary sent by Alaska to the data subjects. ALASKA will take reasonable measures to inform Clients about updates to the terms of the Privacy Notice.